Peering at Peers – Demo Day

Studio participants have something to share with their peers. On these demo days, scattered throughout the year, we will have the privilege of learning what one of our peers knows and does in his/her art practice. The first one is by founding member, Clive Beal.

Clive is the curator of the little fernwood gallery. He has exhibited his work at the Sooke Fine Arts and Look shows. He received a diploma in fine art from Camosun Collage.

Clive's demonstration and tutorial will touch on colour theory, colour mixing, basic brushwork, and the complete palette with eight basic colors. Bring in an object and Clive will create the colour match.

Thursday February 27, 1-3 pm

Calling all Artists!

Through a collaborative process we have come up with the June show theme. "Where Art & Life Collide – Spirit Blooms" Allow this thought to inspire your art. Submission deadline near the end of May.

Donating Other Currencies ~ by Terri Beaton

Are you looking for ways to Support Pandora Arts Collective Society, but don't have the funds to do so?

Here are two ways you can help:

Canadian Tire Money. Yes, we accept Canadian Tire Money. Do you have family or friends that don't want their Canadian Tire Money? Yes, it is OK to donate the five and ten cent denominations as they all add up. What will we do with our Canadian Tire Money? We can buy supplies such as paper, scissors, glue, brushes and many other things. Right now we have $4 and that is a start.

Shopper's Optimum Points: Do you shop at Shopper's Drug Mart? Do you have a Shopper's Optimum Card? If you do, it is so easy! You can donate some or all of your points online. If you don't have a Shopper's Optimum card it's easy to get one. Either ask for an application at a Shopper's or fill one in online. The points are all donated and collected online. Points add up quite quickly! The points turn into dollars and then PACS can buy supplies. Again we can buy anything from electronics to paint.

Dénouement:

The outcome of a sequence of events in which a resolution takes place, the strands of the plot come together, and matters are explained. A fitting theme for a woman's 55th birthday, where, on the verge of becoming a senior citizen, seemed best illustrated by dancing sinewy trees, misty beaches, far horizons, inscrutable caves, and the mysteries of math and ice. Oh, and with lots and lots of birthday cake and chocolate.

Jean Oliver is a writer and painter who took root in Victoria, where she can be near her wild and beloved west coast for lively images to paint—and still find a warm café to hole up in for strong tea and a few hours of writing.
