The Pandora Arts Collective Society

presents its group show:
Endings, Beginnings, and Places In-Between also featuring The Great Avocado Rodeo...

These statements were collected from all the artists about our show titles “Endings, Beginnings and Places In-between” and the “The Great Avocado Rodeo.”

It's the places in-between where life is lived, both in time and space.

The Avocado Rodeo speaks to my Dadaist side.

Hind site, foresight and insight.

Although it is in that in-between time where we mainly live our daily lives, we can't avoid change. Experiences, possessions and other beings enter and exit our lives, leaving behind their trail of emotion.

Those places in-between, the transitional spaces, that is where the magic happens.

The Avocado Rodeo is so happy!

I love the 'Endings, Beginnings and Places In-between' I think it is all encompassing and is a great title. It covers the gamut.

We each in our own way, close the past, start, or just swing marching on an open frame.

Times folds on its self like a fan.

What a ride- halfway to guacamole at any moment, but how delicious!

It is a long strange trip, enjoy the ride and do art.

Life's unexpected bucks on the way to a great guacamole.

You realize that life goes fast
It's hard to make the good things last
You realize the sun doesn't go down
It's just an illusion caused by the world spinning round (taken from 'Do you Realize' by The Flaming Lips).

- All work in by November 29.
- Hang - December 6.
